

Subject: China compulsory certificate

Date: 12-10-2022

The China compulsory certificate (abbreviated as CCC or 3C certificate) was established in 2001 and implemented on May 1, 2002 and became fully effective on August 1, 2003.

This certificate is required for both imported and domestic products. CCC is an equivalent of the European CE certificate.

For the products required compulsory certifications by the People's Republic of China, a catalogue, named as "First Catalogue of Products Subject to China Compulsory Certification" was announced as well.

From this catalogue which our products are covered at category 4- small power motors. However, this category excludes motors for control purposes, such as servo motors, stepper motors, self-aligning machines, etc. Therefore, at this moment of writing the Tecnotion motors are not subject to CCC certification.

Our products are in conformity with the essential requirements of following EC Directive when installed according the installation manual.

Subsequently, all Tecnotion products are deemed not to require CCC certification.
